Court won't stop admissions to deemed varsities

J. Venkatesan

New Delhi: The Supreme Court on Thursday declined to restrain the 44 deemed universities recommended by the Tandon Committee to be de-recognised, from making fresh admissions for the academic year 2010-2011.

A Bench of Justice Dalveer Bhandari and Justice Gyan Sudha Misra did not accept the argument advanced by the Centre that no fresh admissions should be permitted as that would cause prejudice to the students.
